Great game but hard to calculate the conditions needed for first shot hit. Maybe an improvement would be to have a chart with distances to increase first shot hit probability. Also possibly have milradians as a gauge for vertical adjustments. This would make it more realistic.

Also maybe research into adding extra charges on the base of the mortar bomb/mine. This would add extra realism also and possibly add another level of difficulty or ways to achieve the correct firing solution.

TL;DR:

It's a great game and well worth the  $$41$  when it is on sale.
